Keeping you centered on surgery

While performing total joint surgeries in the ASC environment has advantages, it also comes with plenty of challenges. Namely, the challenges of outfitting a facility with specialized equipment for these complex procedures and everything that goes with them—from sterilization to waste management to wound closure. When you partner with Stryker, you get a comprehensive solution—including financing—from a single point of contact. Our total ASC solution can be customized to include just about everything your ASC needs—in the OR, and everywhere else.

Becker's Healthcare podcast: on ASC migration

This episode of Becker's Healthcare Podcast features a conversation with Stryker partner and Orthopaedic Surgeon Dr. Bob Marchand about the migration of total joint procedures to the ASC setting. Hear about why performing total joint procedures in an ASC is appealing, the ways COVID-19 created an accelerated need for outpatient surgery and how he was able to manage the hurdles most surgeons encounter when they make the move.
