

LOCATION SERVICES TERMS OF USE

Data Collection & Usage: To provide location services, we must collect, utilize, transmit, process, and maintain information (1) to help track location of devices; (2) for analysis to improve device location accuracy; or (3) to provide the AED location to local emergency medical services, medical directors or AED registries. If your device has wireless technology features, device information may also be used to identify its location via Google location services or other location services providers. These providers will apply their own terms and policies for their services.

Consent Revocation: You may withdraw consent at ANY time. You can disable these location services by (1) selecting the “I decline” checkbox below; or (2) de-selecting the Location Services Consent box on your Account page. If you are unable to revoke your consent, please contact Physio-Control Customer Support for further assistance.

Data Retention: We will retain the above collected data for the duration of your use of location services and, when applicable, for a reasonable period after you have disabled location services.
